Finally a seed mixture that accommodates the specific biological and nutritional needs of horses. Formulated for pastures specific to the Rocky Mountains, plains, and New Mexico areas.

Although cows and horses are both herbivores, they have different eating habits and basic nutritional needs. Cows do not have upper teeth and shear the grass off with its tongue leaving the height of the remaining grass at approximately 2 inches tall. Horses have both upper and lower teeth and therefore will graze the grass to a height of approximately 1 inch and sometimes down to ¼ inch.

Horses are very lively and will run over pasture causing tremendous traffic pressure to pasture.

Horseman's Premium was developed to endure the grazing pressure of horses. Horseman's Premium is made by blending newly developed grass species with low growing points, which withstands short clip grazing. Makes excellent hay!!

Can be used for dryland or irrigated pastures.
